

Leading Web3 Infrastructure Company Chainstack Hires Cloud Infrastructure Guru as CEO

Jan-Jaap (JJ) Jager - Chainstack's CEO

Chainstack, the leading suite of services connecting all developers with web3 infrastructure, just made a massive power play and hired Jan-Jaap (JJ) Jager as their new CEO! The company is on a mission to ignite a new era of growth, innovation, and sheer awesomeness offering fast, reliable, and easy-to-use infrastructure solutions distributed globally.

JJ is a cloud infrastructure guru, with over 20 years of computing technology industry experience under his belt. He was the former Chief Revenue Officer of Acronis, a global leader in cyber protection, and has a proven track record of scaling infrastructure businesses to new heights while keeping solid financial foundations. JJ's expertise in cloud and SaaS-related technologies and infrastructure automation ensures that data and API management at scale is a top priority as Chainstack continues to build the most complete, reliable, and developer-friendly platform for all web3 developers.

As the CEO, JJ is ready to unleash Chainstack's full potential, building a strong leadership team and working closely with it to deliver an intuitive developer experience, battle-tested reliability, and outstanding customer support. He's committed to driving excellence, expanding the company's reach, and keep building the ever-expanding list of services and tools to build amazing applications across all prominent web3 protocols.

JJ says, "I'm beyond hyped to join the Chainstack squad as CEO! This company is already the leading provider of web3 infrastructure services, and I'm here to make sure we don't just maintain that position, but skyrocket it to new heights. I'm all about empowering all developers to dive into the world of web3 and making sure innovators can focus on what's important."

Chainstack is ready to blast off to new heights, and there's no limit to what this crew can achieve: With JJ leading the charge, the sky's the limit. Get ready to see Chainstack solidify its position as the leading web3 infrastructure services provider powering applications in DeFi, NFTs, gaming, analytics, and everything in between.
